

I and many other people that I have talked to think that if you start letting a few people or businesses get away with this act of trespassing it will steamroll and soon the anti-call,privacy policy will be history.